Celebrating Women in Mathematics

Nottingham

25th June 2019

Overview

The University of Nottingham welcomes all Year 10 pupils to an engaging day of mathematics to promote the female mathematician. This will involve three interactive workshops given by female presenters and also a special enrichment talk given by our guest speaker.

This event is suited to any bright young mathematicians at KS4 (female or male!) and we invite all schools to bring a maximum of fifteen students to be accompanied by a teacher.

Aims

- To promote the female role in mathematics
- To inspire (all) students to study mathematics further
- To showcase practical areas of mathematics and the careers they can lead to.

Who will benefit from attending?

Any KS4 pupils

Frequently Asked Questions

Can I bring more than 15 students?

We have capped numbers at 15 to begin with in line with demand from previous years. If we have spare spaces available then you will be notified after May half term.

Can I bring male students to the event?

Yes! All students are welcome regardless of gender.

Which students should I bring in terms of predicted grades?

We recommend you bring students who are predicted at least a level 7 at GCSE Mathematics.
